

London StartupCamp.org = 2nd prize

Written by Administrator

Monday, 10 March 2008 00:00 - Last Updated Thursday, 20 November 2008 21:45

What a weekend!

Even though we've been quite busy, we still managed to participate in Startup Camp London ; an event sponsored by Sun Microsystems

We meet a lot of people involved in other startups, shared ideas with the some of the industry's leading geeks, including David Axmark (Founder of MySQL), attended some really neat 'unconferences', and in the end managed to pitch our concept to win the 2nd prize!

All startups had to show their product to about 300 attendees. That's about 90 minutes explaining our vision, letting people try our product (they loved it), talking about the business model, drinking ridiculous amounts of water and finishing our stock of moo cards !!

So, thanks Sun for the Ultra 20M2 (what a sweet dev machine this will be) and the great event, congrats to the 1st prize fav.or.it and 3rd prize M apness .

Kudos to Scred , Questionform , Notely , ONEIS and all the other participants!