

New Forum and News Site!

Written by Administrator

Friday, 28 November 2008 01:15 - Last Updated Friday, 28 November 2008 13:50

WebCanvas just got upgraded!

To keep-up with the continuous development and enhancement of WebCanvas, it was becoming increasingly important to provide a space for community to share their insights, collaborations, and provide their all too valuable feedback!

Most importantly there were a great number of projects that have been started (like the chat zone, tiny planets, wall of users, ...) which are very interesting and it would be nice if their authors introduced themselves and gave some insight on what inspired them!

More updates to come! In mean-while we hope you enjoy the Snake Trail also available here in the greater dimension!